BAIN TO BE FOLLOWED BY COOLER WEATHER. Those whom the sunny and mild weather of Friday empted to hope that there was to be a season of respite from the cold and dreary weather which has pre-valled during the greater part of this fall, were disappointed when they awoke yesterday morning and found it raining. The storm which has been dailying about in the Mississippi Valley for a day or two moved northeastward and reached this city about midnight. It was precoded and accompanied by a little higher temperature, the thermometer yesterday morning registering 60 degrees as against 56 degrees on Friday ing. Sergeant Dunn, in charge of the Signal service Station on the top of the Equitable Building said that the storm was not a severe one in any locality, merely a common every-day rain. Its centre yesterday was at Pittsburg, and it will not pass away until sometime this morning. The storm will probably be followed by cooler weather, and it is likely to be cold this afternoon.

From The Portland Argus (1870).

Not long ago a rich sural agriculturist went into his place to carriage manufacturer's; and remarked that "marsh and it was talked over how fourteen years ago he had bought one at the same place for $35. And so they confat thated a while and fieldly agreed on one that was about the same thing as the old one in kind, but which could not be afforded for less than $70. At this the old gentleman felt outraged, and expressed himself in very plain language concerning the great profits manufacturers are making. Now the builder knew it was a little better sleigh than the old one, being better siyle and having several improvements in ironing ste., but he held his peace and only remarked to the farmer that he would sell him the sleigh for just the same pay he got for the other one, whereat the expectant purchaser was delighted, and when he was told he could pay in the same quantity from the farm he took it as a special concession from an old customer and he fairly beamed with good humor. And so "marm" went away to do some shopping and left the old gentleman to arrange the details. Our friend went to the hooks and found the transaction of fourteen years ago (this would place it in the good old free trade days and the first item of credit was "eight bbls, hand picked Baldwin apples, $1 per barrel."

A solemn twitching was seen around the old man's mouth.

"One tub of butter at 12:1-2 cents, etc." "Well," mouth.

"One tub of butter at 12 1-2 cents, etc." "Well," said the farmer, "I don't know about the butter I have sold, I'm afraid all that can't be spared."

"But I'll take it in cheese," said his friend.

"Well, let's see about cheese," And they looked at the next item on the old account and found fine old cheese at 9 cents.

At this point the rursa agriculturist could keen his humor to himself no longer. He turned all sorts of expressions and indelged in the most varied expletives, and ended by hursting away from the counting room in the most hopeless state of intellectual interiety, and when next he rides abroad if after a snow-fail, it will be in the old sleigh, and "marm and the girls" will be instructed that it is the duty of poor people to bow in submission to their helpless lot.

SUCCESS OF THE ROYAL TOUR. THE GERMAN PEOPLE ENTHUSIASTIC OVER THE YOUNG EMPEROR.

THE POPE PLEASED WITH THE PLANS OF THE EMPEROR'S VISIT TO ROME-IS BISMARCK SOON TO BE RETIRED !-GEFFCKEN

AND THE DIARY.

Copyright; 1888; By the New-York Associated Press. Berlin, Oct. 6.-Emperor William's reception at Vienna has sent a thrill of gratification through Empire. Apart from the popular demonstrations the enthusiasm shown and the scenes at the banque given to His Måjesty, the visit has been of immense value in displaying the Emperor's latent qualities. His social tact and personal gentality have hitherto been known only in limited circles. The current notions investing him with a cold, unsympathetic personality have been corrected by the smiling screnity with which he passed through the tiring ceremonies associated with his reception.

The official papers here and at Vienna comment upon the Emperor's speeches as assurances that the German and Austrian armies are practically united and ready for action against a common enemy. Any suspicion, however remote, of Emperor William's in clining toward the Czar has been dispelled. On the contrary, several incidents have taken place which im-pel the conviction that decisive action for the testing of the strength of the alliance will not be long de-

To-day the Emperors went chamois hunting in the Imperial preserves in the Semmering Mountains. Emperor William will remain in Vienna until Wednesday, when he will start for Italy.

THE EMPEROR AND THE POPE. The interview of Cardinal Galimberti Papal Nuncio at Vienna, with His Majesty on Thursday lasted only ten minutes. The Cardinal, it is said, has freely stated that the Emperor, after expressing the hope that nothing would occur during his visit to Rome to wound the susceptibilities of the Pope, declined to discuss any question pending between the Vatican and Germany; simply referring him to Count Herbert Bismarck. The Nuncio's conference with Count Herbert Bismarck appears to have been limited to the arranging of the formalities of Emperor William's reception at the Vatican. Advices from Rome received here last evening announce that the Vatican is genuinely satisfied with the programme arranged. Emperor William will cal upon the Pope at the Vatican before going to the Quirinal. Gaining this point has gladdened the officials at the Vatican. The Pope will hold a private conference with the Emperor in the library. The smallest details of the reception of His Majesty have been settled, even to how many horses and what carriages shall form the Emperor's cortege, the number of persons in his suite, and the place assigned to each.

PLOTS AGAINST THE EMPEROR'S LIFE. The Italian police, assisted by Berlin officers, are taking precautions to prevent any attempt upon the The German and Italian Anarchists mean mischief. Letters from Zurich, which have been intercepted, refer to some plot against His Majosty, and give rise to the belief that he will be attacked during his tour of Italy.

It is of omineus import that during the Royal visit a military conference will take place at Milan at which General Cosenz, the Ital an chief-of-staff, will meet Generals von Waldersee and von Hahnke and two delegates of the Austrian War Office. The meeting will virtually be a commission of inquiry as to the condition of the army of Italy and what part it will be able to take in coming developments.

KAISER WORSHIP AT FEVER HEAT. The Berlin Municipals want to accord the Empe a great public demonstration of welcome on his return. October 23. His tour has raised the Ka ser return. October 23. His tour has raised the Kalser worship to a white heat. Count Douglas's election speech at Aschersieben faithfully reflects the present popular tendency toward inconsiderate admiration of an untried ruler. His effusion is about to be published for distribution throughout the Empire. "As Emperor," continues the panegyrist, "he has shown himself impervious to flattery; the champion of religious toleration; an earnest philanthropist; an assiduous friend of the working classes; not ascette, but bealthily plous; a foe to sensual indulgence, and sternly opposed to gambling and other prodigalities. Finally, he is averse to war, sympathizes with popular aims and desires progressive legislation compatible with the nation; interests."

he is averse to the property of the property of the nation's interests."

Count Douglas did not draw this character without the Emperor's sanction. Every line is meant to impress upon Germans the belief that he is a sovereign able to govern without the assistance of the greatest statesman and to lead armies to victory relying upon his own strategy. The inference is that the Emperor aims to prepare Germany for the retirement of likewards.

WHERE DID GEFFOREN GET THE DIARY?

A Hamburg dispatch announces that no definite measure has yet been taken to prosecute Professor Seffeken. It is not true that the authorities have seen a written permit from the late Emperor Frederick authorizing Geffeken to publish the diary. The inquiry resulted in establishing the fact that Geffeken never got a copy from Frederick. It is not known of the summer house upon the place.
Mrs. Burke-Roche, of New-York, is a guest of the and King Humbert.

As the Inquiry narrows the circle of possible sources of the betrayal of the diary the Bismarckian papers become more bitter toward the ex-Empress. "Keine frauenzimmer politik" is again their cry. Insuiting suggestions of complicity on the part of the ex-Empress are common, though no one has dared to make a direct charge that she is responsible for the publication of the diary. Madame Geffeken was not permitted to hold a private interview with her husband recently.

GIRARD COLLEGE TRUSTEES DENOUNCED THE SECULAR UNION HAS A SHOT ALSO AT

CHRISTIAN CHURCHES. Pittsburg, Oct. 6 (Special).-There were lively scenes as to-day's session of the twelfth annual Congress of the American Secular Union. One of the questons under discussion was: "What action shall be taken to rescue Girard College from the control of those who daily violate the will of its founder, Stephen best bread, the best tea biscuits, the best apple pic, who daily violate the will of its founder, Stephen best bread, the best tea biscuits, the best apple pie, the best butter and the best all-around biscuits. that Judge E. R. Westbrook be requested to report the condition of affairs at the college, and the advisability of instituting legal proceedings against the trustees and other officials. Dr. Cutherbert, in the course of his remarks on the question, said :

"I believe that if a mandamus was served on the frustees it would bring them to time."

Here the venerable Mrs. Lucy N. Colman said:

"Well, - the trustees, anyhow." The resolution

The best means to further the azitation for the taxation of church property were also debated. Dr. Juliet H. Severance, of Milwaukee, described churches as monopolies, and said she had never made a labor speech without bringing in the great church monopoly as one of the worst evils of the day. Simon Nixon, of this state, said the churches were simply breaking one of the first laws of Moses: "Thou shalt not steal." Untaxed church property, he said, is nothing less than a base theft. A resolution to utilize the press and the law in the furtherance of the agitation of church property taxation was adopted. Resolutions on the death of Courtlandt Palmer were adopted. A memorial pamphlet will be published.

THE DEATH OF MISS BARRETT.

The friends of Judge Barrett and of his wife learn with sorrow of the bereavement and affliction that have befallen them in the death of their eldest daughter, Miss Gertrude Josephine Barrett, who died City, Colorado, on Thursday, October 4, in the twenty-seventh year of her age. The griefstricken father was on his way to his daughter's bedside when he received, at Eansas City, the news of her death. Miss Barrett was a beautiful girl, and not less amiable in temperament, gentle in manner, and accomplished in mind than she was lovely in person. From her mother-an intellectual woman and a writer of marked ability-she had inherited fine literary taste and especial talent for music, together with the rare charm of rich and dazzling Spanish beauty. Her voice was copious, tender and brilliant, and, but for the fatal malady which gradually impaired her constitution and finally took her life, she might have had a successful and beneficient career as a musical artist. She died of consumption. Her mother, the author of the novel of "Naomi" and other writings, is now in spain, and in frall health. Death nearly always deals an irremediable wound, but in this instance nothing seems wanting to make affiction very bitter; and Judge Barrett, by whom his daughter was greatly loved, will be remembered in many hearts with the deepest sym-

SELECTIONS FROM THE MAIL. ASPHALT PAVING FOR NEW-YORK.

A CORRESPONDENT'S WAY TO GET RID OF THE INCESSANT CLATTER UPTOWN.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: A stranger visiting New-York remarks almost at once its excessive noise. A continuous and him wherever he goes. This is natural in a city of nearly two million souls, and no one would do away with the animated and bustling life of the town. But for the comfort of those who wish to sleep at night, would it not be well if the dwellinghouse portions were relieved from this hubbub? do not mean that any restriction should be placed upon truckmen, mail-wagons, or vehicles of any de-scription. The streets and avenues should, of course, be free to all. But there is one suggestion I would

Above Twenty-third-st, there is little business tran sacted in the streets. Some of the avenues are yielding to the pressure of trade; but the streets are, almost without exception, devoted to homes. Many of these streets are wretchedly paved (which reflects unpleasantly on the city government), and when a chance truck is driven over the rough cobbles, if one is within hearing distance and has any nerves at all, he is in a most unhappy condition until the clatter has died away. At the dead of night, when most people are endeavoring to sleep, this is, to say the least, abominable. In due time we expect these streets will be repayed. But why would it not be well to use that delightful asphalt, or something of a similar character! I know objection is made to because it is so slippery in winter and in wet weather and because horses find it difficult to pull heavy loads over it; but few heavy loads pass through the streets for any great distance in this part of the city. Such a paving would reduce the noise to almost a minimum, would insure much cleaner streets and would add immensely to the comfort of a large part of the community.

FORMS OF WOOLLEN ADULTERATIONS.

To the Editor of The Irioune.

Sir: Isn't it a little singular that those who write and talk so much about free wool, using as an argument that free wool will drive shoddy out of the market, fail to mention that by the Mills bill the present 10 per cent duty on "rags, shoddy, mungo, waste and flocks, woollen," is to be done away Not long ago I read an elaborate article written to prove that shouldy was nice stuff after all; only people applied the name to all "adulterations" of woollen fabrics, when really shoddy was the combings of the ends and waste pieces of nice woollens. ster says that shoddy is a fibrous material, obtained villing or tearing into fibres refuse woollen goods old steckings, rags, druggets, etc. "Mungo," he says, is "a fibrous material obtained by devilling or tearing the rags of fine woollen goods, as broadcloths, etc. the rags of fine woollen goods, as broadcoins, etc.
In this respect it differs from shoddy, and like it is spun into yarn for making cloth, but of finer quality.
I confess to liking the literal rendering of the participle "devilling" in these definitions and see in Noah Webster, or his helpers, the true humorist.

STATION PLACARDS IN ELEVATED CARS. To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: I have never understood why the elevated raffway companies have not from the first adopted movable signs, or slides, placed in some conspicuus part of the cars and made of glass, so as to be equally available at night, to announce the names of the various stations, instead of depending upon the lungs, weak or strong, of mortal and very fall lible men. This simple method would do away with all compiaints as to "weak voices," recently noted in your columns, and would be of great benefit to all the patrons of the roads. For, even when the voices are strong enough, the names are often pronounced in so indistinct and slurred a manner that they are calculated to mislead rather than direct even those familiar with our streets, not to speak of strangers in the city. May not the general public ask some improvement in this direction?

Brooklyn, Oct. 4, 1888.

MR. BLAINE'S GREAT TARIFF SPEECH To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: In my political Bible, The Tribune, I read the Hon. James G. Blaine's speech, and I consider it the grandest exposure of the Democratic party on the tariff question yet made. Is it going to be put in pamphiet form for the benefit of the Nation? If so, I want 100 copies for distribution.

It all depends or whether his judgment is good or bad; he guesses that such and such an investment, or line of policy, or grade of goods will bring success. Sometimes it does, som in a month is considered pretty good work (or luck, as the case may be); but here is a Kan who offers to give $2 50 for $1. Every one must saimit this is rather a good offer. Most of the readers of The Tribune are familiar with the name of the "Dashaway" Fountain Pen, which has frequently been referred to in its columns in connection with some ingenious and original scheme of the Caw's Pen and Ink Company to advertise the pen, which has resulted in the sale of over one hun-dred thousand since July. Not satisfied with this, the company proposes to stop at nothing short of supply ing every man, woman and child "who do write" with a "Dashaway" pen. Here is their latest offer: They will send a $2 50 "Dashaway" pen to every one who will send them 81 and the name of the successful Presidential candidate. All that the applicant has to do is to write legibly on a piece of paper about three inches square his or her own name (both sexes are allowed to compete and full address, and the name of the candidate he or she thinks will be elected our mecessful candidate. Therefore the Company promises to apply the $1 received from those who name the defeated one toward the payment of a $4 Dashaway. That is, those on the defrated side can have a $4 pen by investing $3 more; every one gets full value for the dollar which accompanies his guess, and if he guesses right he gets a $2.50 pen by mall free of further expense, or he can have a $4 pen for an additional $1 50.

There is no limit placed on the number of gues allowed so long as $1 is sent with each. For example, a person may send $5 and fill out five blanks and forward all to the Company, and if his candidate is elected he will receive five $2 50 pens or the equivalent Another plan proposed by this enterprising company to send a pen to every one who will send them $2.50 with his or her name and the name of the candidate he or she thinks will be elected, and the applicant will receive the pen by return mail, and with it will be sent a ticket like the following:

This certifies that the bearer, being a purchaser of a Dashaway Double-Feed Fountain Pro., shall be entitled to the return of One Dollar in the event of — being elected next President of the United States.

(Signed) Caw's Ink and Pen Co., 189 Broadway, New-York.

If the candidate whose name to on the ticket is lected he will receive $1 as a rebate from the company. This latter plan will commend itself to conservative people and those who are in a hurry to get the pen. The only question of doubt that can arise in the mind of any one is as to the reputation of the Caw's Ink and of any one is as to the reputation of the Caw's Ink and Pen Company in dealing with the public, and this question can be answered to the satisfaction of every one by their thousands of patrons, whose names will be furnished on application.

The political preference of the thousands who will respond to this ofter will make a valuable campaign document, and as the time is short in which it can be used, the ofter will be closed soon.

The Dashaway pen liself is a very useful and ingenious article that no one who writes should be without, for it is always ready to give a clear, legible Ink mark, and will keep on giving them for hours, covering about forty pages of foolscap at one filling, without the writer's ever having to "dip" or wipe. The pen is always ready for work at any time or place, being pen and inkstand together in the compass of an ordinary penholder; and second, the attention is never distracted, even for a second, by the bother of dipping or trying the mb; if just runs on as freely as a lead pencil, but without requiring sharpening. It is called "Dashaway" because you can dash away for hours with it, following freely and without trammel your most glowing thoughts, and helping you out when you are in a hurry to write that last article or carch that next mail. It is a "double-feeder"—feeds air in and ink out, being "built that way" and being the only one which is. There are tens of thousands of them in use all over the country; all classes of people use them—lawyers and expressmen, politicians and preachers, editors, reporters and authors, bankers, merchants, manufacturers, travelling men, teachers, stenographers—every one who wants to write in a hurry at short notice or to keep it up for hours without bothering to dip, or to write under difficult circumstances, as in the saidle or in the cabin of a yacht or on a bicycle, and that sort of thing. Of all the thousands who have bought them and who uses them none speak save in terms of the highest praise.

Among these there are doubtless many who would like to take advantage of either of the opportunities offered above. Of course, no one who uses a Dashaway would part with his or her owe one; but if there is a nicer article to give as a Christmas or birthday gift or philopena present, or even to wager on the election itself, it has not yet been offered to the million who read this.

The manufacturers, being anxious to see how fully their pens were appreciated, sent out to about 12,000 of their customers the following letter:

"Dear Sir: Being desirous of knowing how you like the Dashaway' Pen we sent you a short time ago, we will thank you for your unblassed opinion of it. Should you not be satisfied in every way, we hereby announce our willingness to refund your money or to exchange the pen for one better adapted to your use."

And the replies which they got were most enthusiastic and gratifying. Not one out of the 1

GENERAL HARRISON AND THE RAILEOADS. From The Chicago News.

"You are making a good deal of money out of these

"You are making a good deal of money out of these Republican excursions. I suppose," remarched a visitor to an Indianapolis railroad official.

"Yes, we are doing pretty well," said the railroad man, "but if I could only have got General Harrison to agree to a little scheme of mine we would simply be rolling in wealth."

"What is your scheme?"

"You will admit that it is a good one. But the general wouldn't have anything to do with it, so I bad to give it up. You see, I proposed that we sell excursion tickets from all points to Indianapolis and have coupons attached to them reading as follows:

Present This at the Present This at the White House After March 4, 1889, and Get an Office.

"Now that scheme would have caught everybody. But, as I say, the general put his foot down, and that was the end of it." ARRIVAL OF A NOTED SPECIALIST.
